THE WEATHER.

SIGNAL OFFICE, WAR DEP'T, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17, 1889, 8 p.m.

The following is the forecast of the weather for New England:

Fair weather, slightly cooler, northerly winds.

WEATHER-CROP BULLETIN.

The weather-crop bulletin of the New England Meteorological Society makes the following comment on crops for the week ending Saturday, June 15th: "The weather during the past week was generally favorable to growing crops. Only in a few localities, where the land is low and badly drained, did the hood crops suffer much. A heavy yield of hay is assured in all parts of New England. Grass was cut in Connecticut, notwithstanding the cloudy weather, and the crop is heavier than it has been for many years. Throughout Massachusetts and Southern Vermont and New Hampshire, hay will be made during the coming week. In the northern part the crop is heavy, and will be cut about the 1st of July. In Maine rust has appeared on timothy, but there is no serious danger of the hay being affected. There has been too little sunshine in the upper Connecticut valley for corn. Throughout the remainder of New England, corn, grain and potatoes look well and are growing rapidly. In Connecticut rye is turning yellow, from some cause not well known. It is probably due to worms at the root of the plant. No fears for the crop are entertained. The weather has been most favorable for tobacco. The whole crop has been planted and is well started. Apple worms have appeared in great numbers, and the whole crop may be ruined." Reports were received from Maine towns as follows: West Jonesport, grass good, planted crops injured; Winslow, all crops have a stand and are growing well; North Belgrade, all crops benefitted; East Sumner, crops looking well, except on wet land; Brunswick, corn, grain and potatoes have fine color.

WHAT THE FLOOD LEFT THREATENED

By the Heavy Discharges of Dynamite at Johnstown.

People Panic Stricken Until General Hastings Stopped the Firing.

Sad Scenes Among the Bereaved and Destitute Survivors.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 17.—The zeal of the contractors in breaking up the gorge of drift by the use of dynamite this morning ran away with their better judgment. The quantity of the explosive was largely increased with each successive shot until the citizens ran terror stricken from their homes fearing that the few houses remaining would be razed to the ground by the tremendous fire and concussion. Manager Fulton of the Cambria Iron Company, who, on account of the explosions, was compelled to move his family and effects to the mountain side for safety, sent a note to General Hastings demanding that the dynamiting charges be made smaller. General Hastings replied that they would cease at once, since which time no shots have been fired.

Today was the hottest experienced since the catastrophe, and its effect was apparent on all classes of people. The heat is extremely oppressive and is bringing out all the bad smells concealed in the numerous piles of rubbish. Vast quantities of disinfectants are being used freely throughout the community.

To the casual observed the scene at Johnstown is a dreadful one. To the people here who have most reason to be horrified, it seems scarcely to appeal at all. There is such a dreadful uncertainty about where any one perished that they have grown to either believe that their friends are less likely to be near the scene of their former homes than anywhere else or to hope that they are among the unidentified dead who have found at the hands of strangers a resting place under the great mounds that now dot the hillsides of the Conemaugh. There has been so much sadness and sorrow in this valley that the human mind has been paralyzed.

It is rare, indeed, to see the people speak at all. They wander aimlessly about between the ruins, the commissary department and the houses of the survivors in which they find a temporary shelter. Beyond the fact that they are alive they haye little to be thankful for. There are some few merchants who speak rather willing, and there is a wonderful activity displayed by both the Cambria Iron Works Company and the Gautier Steel Works, but beyond these there are few who give any outward indication that they have left within them the semblance of ambition.

This is hardly to be wondered at.

Too many of the wild statements sent out to an anxious world that they are being comfortably cared for are fictitious. They are not. This may be the fault of the conditions and the circumstances, rather than of anybody in charge, but it is a fact. The food furnished is not fit to be eaten in many instances, and it is not being cleanly handled. The people are thankful for it, such as it is; but it is not the food that the great heart of the charitable world has been led to believe is being doled out. The rations of bread served are fairly large in quantity, but in quality that given out, particularly on Friday last, was not fit for human beings to live on. It was badly baked, and had been carted to the commissary department in filthy wagons that had done duty in removing the debris.

It is one of the saddest scenes imaginable to behold the people with their baskets awaiting their turn at the commissary department for the rations doled out to them. There you will see men in line who were prosperous and well to do less than a month ago. Today they are wearing clothing of any color and of every texture, and are waiting the supplies which alone stand between them and absolute hunger.

There, too, are the women, and the new sun bonnets and gingham dresses and ill-fitting shoes which they wear tell of the haste with which they had to run for their lives. They had no time to think of clothing other than that which was on them when the great summons came. You can speak to none of them who are not mourners. They feel their position keenly, too, and but for the voluntary workers in charitable organizations who are doing magnificent work they would fare much worse.

A soldier is a soldier, and his hand is rough, no matter how tender his heart may be, and the people much prefer going where kind words are said than awaiting the pleasure of those whom officialism makes methodical to a degree.

WHILE TEMPORARILY INSANE

A Rockland Sailor Was Drowned at Vineyard Haven.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., June 17.—Papers found on the person of a man discovered in the harbor today were receipts from Rockland, Me., parties to Thomas Abbott, bearing dates of May 6, 1887, November 16, 1887, November 26, 1887, and October, 1887.. These without doubt identify the body as that of Thomas F. Abbott, probably the same man who slipped away from Captain Clark of the schooner Elbridge Gerry of Rockland, at this port on the morning of the 9th inst., while temporarily insane.

THE WIRES ARE DOWN

But Bad News Reaches St. Louis From the Flooded District.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Advices about the disaster in Kansas from wind and rain are that Uniontown, fifteen miles west of Fort Scott, was swept away and two women and four children drowned. Uniontown which is a place of six hundred inhabitants is in the midst of a thickly settled country and it is feared the loss of life is even heavier than reported. As the wires are down for fifteen miles nothing definite can be learned.

No Strike on the Union Pacific.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A despatch from Omaha, Neb., received in this city today, says: "There is no truth whatever in the report that there is going to be a strike of engineers and firemen on the Union Pacific railway. There are some questions of minor importance between the management and the employes, which are now under consideration and there is no doubt but that those questions will shortly be disposed of to the entire satisfaction of both the employes and employers."

PORTLAND AND OSTEND.

They May Be Connected By Three Thousand Miles of Steel.

PARIS, France, June 17.—The Temps says today that Germany is treating with Belgium in regard to laying a cable from Ostend, Belgium, to Portland, Me. This move is made in order to render these countries independent of English cable companies.

Ostend is a seaport of Belgium and is 70 miles from Brussels. The town is below highwater level. Ostend is a yearly resort from August to October of many thousand visitors, principally Germans and Russians.

It is said that Bismarck will shortly introduce an order that the German government contribute a large proportion of the expense that such a cable would cost. Belgium is to pay one-fourth of the expense and the United States Commissioners have, it is said, given assurance that America will do her part to forward the undertaking.

[Investigation fails to find that anyone in Portland knows of the proposition to lay a cable line from Belgium to this city, but the news sent by cable is highly probable, and in the early stages of the scheme it is not likely that people on this side of the water would be consulted. It is well known that these European governments desire to be independent of the cable lines controlled by English capitalists, and should they decide upon one of their own, no part in the United States could be found to afford more direct connection with the continent than Portland.]

MAINE.

Ivy Day at Bates.

LEWISTON, June 17.—A large crowd attended the Bates class of '90 Ivy Day today. They filled the chapel and extra seats were brought in. The hall was draped in garnet and trimmed with evergreen. The class marched in at 2.30 p. m., and took seats in front the stage. The programme was:

AUGUSTA, June 17.—The executive committee of the Maine Gettysburg Commission met at the State House and voted that Maine's day at the battlefield will be Oct. 3. The party will leave on Tuesday, Oct. 1st, for the battlefield. The Gettysburg committee adopted the following order of exercises for Maine's day at the battlefield: General Selden Connor will deliver the address; General Charles D. Hamlin, in behalf of the commission, will present the monuments to the Governor of Maine, who in turn will deliver them into the custody of the Gettysburg Memorial Association of Pennsylvania. This involves speeches and responses. Two artillery salutes will be fired.

The vessel met with damage Saturday night southeast of Sambro, bound home to Southport, Me., with 100 quintals of fish, after being out since April 10th. The captain reports fish very scarce. The Alaska will go the marine railway for repairs.

QUINSIGAMOND'S WATERS FURROWED

By the Swift Moving Shells of the Amateur Oarsmen.

Only Seven Hundred People Present to See the Sport.

Portland Scullers Will Not Bring Home the Prizes.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 17.—The weather interfered with the attendance at the great amateur regatta at Lake Quinsigamond today, and only from 200 to 300 visitors came from Boston in place of the expected thousands. The country towns sent small delegations. When the races began, probably not more than 700 persons were on the shores of the lake. In the first race, the junior single sculls, Fred Haas of the Wachusetts Boat Club took the lead and kept it to the finish, beating Nagle of the Metropolitan Club a length and a half, in 14 minutes 15 seconds; Shea of the Crescents third.

The intermediate race was won by McPhee of the Bradfords, in 14 minutes 1 second, with Burgen of the Shawmuts a close second.

The senior sculls race was a close and exciting event. The entries were:

William Caffery, Columbia Rowing Association.
Henry F. Corcovan, Central Boat Club.
E. Newton Atherton, Metropolitan Rowing Association.
W. E. O'Connell, Dirigo Boat Club.
J. E. Mahoney, Columbia Rowing Association.
J. E. Cummings, Bradford Boat Club.
R. A. Woodbury, Pawtucket Boat Club.
Erastus D. Rogers, Albany Rowing Club.
John D. Ryan, Union Boat Club.

All but Cummings started. Mahoney took the lead, but soon after the turn was passed by Ryan, who won in 13m. 53sec., with Caffery second and Rogers third.

In the double scull race the entries were:

John J. O'Malley and Fred Haas, Wachusetts Boat Club.
M. Glarin and J. H. McGee, Warwick Boat Club.
Frank W. Smith and William Newman, Riverside Boat Club.
John C. Nagle and James Pilkington, Metropolitan Club.

The Riversides ran into a carelessly hand led pleasure boat before the start, and stove the bow of their boat to pieces, throwing the pair out. The New York men started in the lead, and came easily in ahead; time, 12m. 46sec. Haas and O'Malley were second, and Glarin and McGee third.

The four-oared working boats, junior race, was won by the Neponsets of Neponset; time, 14m. 7s. The Salems of Salem and Riversides of Cambridge started in this race. The former crew was disqualified for fouling the Riversides, and the latter, although they came in second, was disqualified for turning contrary to rules.

The four-oared working boats, senior race, was won by the West End crew of Boston with little effort; time, 13m. 47s.

The four-oared shell races, seniors and juniors, were both given to the Bradfords of Cambridge. No other competitors appeared on the course.

The eight-oared shell race was won by the Bradfords of Cambridge, with the Shawmuts of Boston second; time, 8m. 16s.

The West Ends were made up of Hosmer, McKay, Teemer and Breen; the Shawmuts, of P. H. Conley, W. J. O'Connell, J. J. & J. M. Casey.

DOWN AN ELEVATOR WELL.

A Lewiston Man Falls Through Three Stories and is Killed.

[Special to the Press.]

LEWISTON, June 17.—Charles Somerton fell down the elevator well in the Bates mill this afternoon and was killed. Somerton was the tender of the elevator. He was on the third floor and started to wheel a bale of cotton to the elevator. As he pushed the truck with the cotton upon it, his head was bent down and he did not see the elevator rise. The machinery either started itself or was set in motion by some person in another part of the building, and when Somerton, pushing his heavy load reached the well, the elevator was high above him. Persons on the second floor saw the man as he fell with the truck and cotton. He breathed when picked up but died soon after. Dr. Russell who was called found that no bones were broken but there was a cut on the head. Death is supposed to have been caused by the blow on the head.

Somerton was a native of England and 61 years old. He was a member of the Order of St. George and an attendant of the Episcopal church. He leaves five children, the youngest fifteen years old. The funeral will be held at Trinity Church, Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Among his most popular personations were Sir Peter Teazle, Sir Anthony Absolute, Lord Ogleby, Job Thornberry and Old Dornton. Mr. Gilbert was twice married.

THE KEARSARGE AT SEA.

It is Just Twenty-five Years Since She Sunk the Alabama.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Immediately after the large blue pennant of Rear Admiral Gherardi had been hoisted to the mizzen, and the handsome new American flag had been hoisted to the gaff of the sloop-of-war Kearsarge yesterday morning, the officers and crew were called to quarters, the vessel was inspected by the Admiral and Captain Shepard, and then the last hawser which moored her to the bulkhead was cast off and she steamed out into the river on her way to Port au Prince, Hayti. She passed under the bridge in convoy of the navy tug Nina, at 10.45 a. m., and the great crowd which had assembled on the bridge gave the famous old vessel a round of cheers as she passed under. She went directly down through the Narrows, and as she will steam all the way, will reach her destination in about six days. It is expected that the vessel will not remain away longer than a month, and if necessary that another vessel be sent, the Galena will probably be the one.

Those who recalled the famous fight between the Kearsarge and Alabama, outside the harbor of Cherbourg, France, on June 19, 1864, also recalled the fact that the battle was fought on Sunday, and that it was somewhat appropriate for her to begin the present expedition to the troubled island of Hayti on Sunday. It was the intention of the officers and crew of the Kearsarge to have a special entertainment on board of the ship on Wednesday, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Kearsarge-Alabama fight, the battle which sent the Confederate privateer to the bottom, and made Captain Raphael Semmes a "criminal escaped from justice."

As she appeared going down the bay yesterday, the Kearsarge appeared to be the identical ship that she was when Captain John F. Winslow challenged the noted pirate, Semmes, to battle with him.

ARE THEY BADLY TREATED?

Rev. Dr. Childs Says the Nation's Indian Pupils Are Abused.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Sometime ago Rev. Dr. T. S. Childs of this city, at the request of Secretary Noble, went to the Hampton Indian School and quietly investigated the complaints in regard to the management of the Indians which had been brought to the attention of the government. Dr. Childs's report was to the effect that the food given the Indian boys was not good, and that the Indians complained that the contributions made for their benefit were used for the benefit of the negroes of the school. Dr. Childs also animadverted severely upon the use of the dungeon or guard house built in the basement under the offices of the institution. This cell is only six feet six inches long, three feet three inches wide and nine feet six inches high. It has no window or means of light whatever, and when the door is closed the cell is absolutely dark. The only ventilation is by means of some small holes in the side wall at the top of the cell which do not connect with the outside air. A little straw comprised the furniture of the room. Indian boys, Dr. Childs reported, were sometimes confined in the cell from a few days to more than a week at a time, and some of the officers of the institution said the stench was awful when a boy was removed.

Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, chairman of the Board of Indian Commissioners, secured a copy of this report and sent two members of the board to Hampton, who made a report directly contrary to that of Dr. Childs. Dr. Childs has written a letter to Gen. Fisk making some sharp criticisms of the Board of Indian Commissioners. That there were things needing correction in the management of the Indian school at Hampton is evident from the fact that they were corrected after his investigation and the Indians sent a representative of the school to this city to return thanks for its improved condition. As to the immuring of Indians in the dungeon, Dr. Childs says he is sorry that the Board of Indian Commissioners, which has no reason for existence unless it stands between the Indians and wrong, can defend this mode of disciplining Indian children. It is understood that Secretary Noble has decided that the cell punishment shall not be inflicted hereafter.

THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

Its Workings To Be Investigated by Charles L. Litchman.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Instructions have been given to Charles L. Litchman, recently appointed treasury agent, to investigate the workings of the contract labor law. Mr. Litchman has begun his work in Philadelphia, and expects, after another week to continue it in Boston. "Complaints have been made to the government," said the agent yesterday, "that foreign laborers are being continually brought into this country under contract. The law seems to be like a net with meshes so small that it catches the learned German professors whom everybody would like to see installed in the Catholic University of Washington, but is yet large enough to let through the toilers who have been posted on the other side how to evade the officers. My duty lies with the work I have been carrying on for 15 years, and will be very congenial to me."

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The following Maine postmasters have been appointed:

C. F. Pendleton, Clark's Island, vice J. Frohac, resigned.
A. R. Day, Dixmont, vice Emerson Jewell, removed.
Addison Harvey, South Atkinson, vice N. Lawpher, removed.

FIFTEEN ACRES OF FLAME.

Blazing Oil Creates Havoc in a Suburb of Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 17.—There were fifteen acres of flame raging at Mile End, a suburb of Montreal at 1.30 this morning. There was no water near the scene of the conflagration and the inhabitants of the village, the workmen at the place on fire and the firemen of the city gave up the hopeless task of checking the flames by ordinary means and threw up earthworks across the path of the fire, hoping to stay its progress in that manner.

The fire started at 10.30 last night in the Bushnell iron works, which are controlled by the Standard Oil Company. The works have a fire department of their own, and they attempted to cope with the flames without calling for the assistance of the Montreal department which is two miles away. Before anybody realized the extent of the blaze it had extended to one of the receivers of the company, which blew up and spread the blazing oil about in all directions for a radius of 200 yards. The enormous freight sheds and yards of the Canadian Pacific Railroad are adjoining the oil works. In an instant these were all ablaze and the fire was beyond control almost as soon as it started. The damage is not yet known.

Czar and Emperor.

BERLIN, June 17.—The Post says that persons familiar with the political situation do not share in the pessimistic views generally entertained regarding the probable tension between Russia and Germany in the event of the Czar's returning Emperor William's visit anywhere in Germany except at Berlin and that all interstate requirements will be fully met by the selection of Kiel as the place of meeting. The Post says that the visit has no connection with the foreign policy of either country.

Like a Coronation.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—The procession in honor of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovich and his financee Princess Alexandra of Greece, was as elaborate as is the coronation of the Tsar in Moscow. The whole city was in high holiday and splendidly decorated and in the evening illuminated. The marriage ceremony took place in the chapel of the Winter Palace.

A Case of Criminal Neglect.

LONDON, June 17.—The inquiry into the recent railway disaster near Armagh, Ireland, began today. Several witnesses testified that they had warned the officials of the train that it would be a risky proceeding to detach the rear cars on the incline. The detached cars had attained a speed of sixty miles an hour when they collided with the train behind them.

Stanley's Movements.

ZANZIBAR, June 17.—Letters received here from Ujiji, dated March 10th, say that Stanley met Tippoo Tib, and sent a number of sick followers back with him, by way of the Congo. Stanley intended coming to the east coast with Emin Pacha. Tippoo Tib would arrive arrive at Zanzibar in July.

The Czar's Toast.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—The newspapers here minimize the significance of the Czar's recent toast to Prince Montenegro and declare that the foreign press received a wrong impression regarding the matter and exaggerates the importance of the Czar's utterances on the occasion in question.

Foreigners in Switzerland.

BERNE, June 17.—The Bundesrath has sent a note to Germany regarding the Wohgemuth affair. The note says the Swiss police exercise supervision over the movements of foreigners in Switzerland.

THE PRESS.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 18.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or preserve communications that are not used.

Woodruff, the Chicago horse thief and Clan na-Gael man, seems to equal in the number and variety of his confessions the recent Charles Stain of Maine.

In the Samoan settlement Uncle Sam has made a great triumph in the cause of poetic justice, although to do it he has had to get into bed with two of the most uneasy fellows on the face of the earth.

Switzerland is plucky and patriotic as ever. Germany, Russia and Austria having combined in a demand that she no longer shelter political offenders, the only answer the Federal Assembly returns is to pass a vote of seventeen million francs for the purchase of repeating rifles. The answer is as Spartan in its tone as in its brevity.

A few days ago the Democratic and free trade papers published ringing editorials about the "martyrdom" of Prof. James H. Canfield, who, it was alleged, had been driven out of the University of Kansas because he was suspected of unsoundness on the tariff question. It now appears that instead of being driven out, his duties have been divided, and he will continue in the University as teacher of history and civics. Instead of suffering "martyrdom" Professor Canfield is in clover.

Yesterday was Bunker Hill day in Boston, and proper regard for nineteenth century enterprise requires the admission that in general excitement and racket it was no whit inferior to the first Bunker Hill day, 114 years ago. A few British and farmers made the noise in 1775; but yesterday there were the commemoratory parade, Barnum's circus, and two games of ball between Boston and Washington, involving the display within that one city of an aggregation of talent that the whole thirteen colonies could not furnish in 1775. It cannot be denied, however, that those old fellows had a certain skill and bravery about defending rail fences and haycocks that the heroes of today do not surpass.

The story of the Indian massacre on the Mille Lacs reservation in Minnesota turns out about as did the story of the three black crows that did not sit well on the stomach of a certain man celebrated in verse. Instead of a band of Chippewas setting upon seven laborers digging a ditch and killing them all, there was one Indian "tough," crazy drunk, who shot one Swede, and did not kill even him. The Swede, who is getting well, says he has always been on good terms with the painted brave, and thinks whiskey is solely responsible for the affair. Fright, and perhaps whiskey too, was at the bottom of the flaming despatch sent by the sheriff of the county to call out the troops.

The millions who have read the simple but graphic stories of the Conemaugh disaster told by the Associated Press despatches every morning have but little conception of the courage, energy and endurance required of the men to whom belongs the credit of sending these despatches. To W. C. Connelly, jr., the Pittsburg agent of the Associated Press, belongs the credit for this arduous service. It was he who on the first notice of the disaster chartered a special train, organized a working force and got through the first reports. His men crossed the river on a wire suspended in a basket, and their reports were carried by courier for miles before a wire could be secured. Connelly worked a telegraph key for himself, and was without sleep for days. While scores of special correspondents arrived later, it was upon this little band under Connelly that the principal work fell for days.

Two or three years ago the Clan-na-Gael had some hold in New England; and no doubt retains somewhat of it now. But the extension of its influence was discouraged in many places by the better element among those actively interested in behalf of the cause of Ireland. A conspicuous example of this was seen in Springfield, Mass. About three years ago there were two or three branches of the Clan-na-Gael in that city and vicinity in a very prosperous condition. Ten years ago Michael Davitt addressed them, and in their number might be counted several well known Irish patriots. But now the order thereabouts, in the language of a Springfield paper, is as "dead as a herring." This condition came about in a somewhat amusing way. The wife of a member found by chance a printed copy of the Clan's constitution among her husband's effects. Being a true Catholic, the good woman at once took it to Bishop O'Reilly, who lost no time in denouncing the order from the pulpit, and in declaring uncompromising war upon its members. Father McDermott and other priests refused the sacraments to all Clan-na-Gael men. Few could endure such treatment for the honor of belonging to the Clan-na-Gael, and, the members deserting, all of the local branches soon became practically defunct. It is a pity some Chicago wife could not have been equally successful in bringing down trouble upon the lodges of Chicago, before they made themselves infamous by decreeing the "removal" of Dr. Cronin.

When Gladstone, in his 77th year brought into Parliament, upon one of Parliament's most famous days, his bill for the establishment of home rule for Ireland, the event was looked upon as one of the most noteworthy in the annals, alike of statesmanship and old age. A crowning act it was called, the rounding out of the career of the great liberal statesman of the nineteenth century, after which he might retire to linger out the decrepitude of old age while younger men should continue the fight. Three years have passed, three years of popular and parliamentary agitation rarely equalled in excitement and severity over any cause among any people. Yet in all that time the day has never been when the plume waving in the thickest of the fray was not the plume of Gladstone. He is now in his 80th year, but so far from showing signs of weakness or decay, he completed last week a political progress along the Cornish and Devon coast that has afforded a wonderful display of both the personal influence of the orator and the physical strength of the octogenarian. One particular day he began with a drive of 20 miles to address a great open-air gathering under a hot sun; then, after a railway journey he addressed another crowd at the Tavistock station, and later delivered a long oration to 7000 people in the Plymouth drill hall. To end this day he held an open-air reception at night and witnessed a grand display of fireworks. A pretty story is told of the old man's reception at Torquay, where he began a speech by pleading the infirmities of old age. "Where are they?" shouted the crowd, accompanying the question with a tremendous cheer. The Conservatives who have based their hopes upon the probability that Mr. Gladstone would have passed from the sphere of influence before the life of the present Parliament shall end, so far have had little to cheer them in the old man's performances.

Gen. Fitz John Porter must have been happy last week at the Army of the Potomac reunion when Gen. Butterfield presented him with a solid gold corps badge set with diamonds. Things have changed with Porter since Logan died.

William Wirt Henry, grandson of Patrick Henry, who was the first governor of Virginia, has been appointed by Governor Lee to represent the State at the meeting of the governors of the thirteen original States in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, July 4.

The London Literary World has this to say of John G. Whittier: "There is no writer of the recent times with whom we are acquainted who, without moralizing, does so much to awaken a really religious and Christ-like feeling as Mr. Whittier."

This summer a stone tower of about the size of the tower in Mount Auburn will be erected by Professor Horsford to mark the site of the ancient fortification which he discovered on the Charles river near Waltham, Mass., and which he believes to be Norumbega, the forgotten.

The oldest university in the world, the one at Bologna, Italy, has taken kindly to the newest idea in education—a female professor—by appointing La Dottoressa Giuseppina Cattani lecturer on pathology. Large audiences listen whenever she speaks. A beautiful face is well as a pretty name is hers, and this may account for some of her popularity.

The London Daily News tells this interesting anecdote in a sketch of the late Laura Bridgman: When Carylyle impertinently asked, "What great or noble thing has America ever done?" somebody replied, "she has produced a girl, deaf, dumb and blind from infancy, who, from her own earnings, has sent a barrel of flour to the starving subjects of Great Britain in Ireland."

Some interest was excited in England last year by the purchase in behalf of the viceroy of Canton of the machinery for minting copper and silver. London Iron says: "It was sent out by a well-known Birmingham firm, and was set up outside the east gate of the city. But, 'after mature deliberation,' the viceroy has decided that the scheme is impracticable, as the copper would not pay, while the silver coinage would not be acceptable to the people.

A very charitable lady in New York wishing to help the Johnstown sufferers, picked out from the wardrobes of herself and her husband all the suits that could be spared. Into the pockets of each suit for men she put a jacknife, a hair brush and a comb. Into the women's gowns she put a pair of stockings, a comb and brush, a tooth brush and a cake of soap. She sent several gowns that she had been saving to wear this summer herself. "I did not hesitate many minutes," she said, heroically. "I decided to let the sufferers have them, and let my husband get me some new ones. That was combining charity and self-interest."

The Navy Department has finally hit upon a whaleboat as a present to King Mataafa for his kindness to the wrecked Americans in Samoa. But it is supposed will fill Tamasese with envy. It seems these Samoan islanders, although almost amphibious, are wretched boat-builders, and that a good craft is just what is wanted to make King Mataafa happy. It is supposed that Congress at the next session will make a liberal appropriation for rewards to the natives who so gallantly risked their lives for the Americans, but the Navy Department can do no more now than make a present to the king

When the bishop of Edinburgh was in this country he visited Bishop Williams of Connecticut at Middletown. Habited in the English Episcopal costume of knee-breeches and black silk stockings, he alighted from the train and was at once accosted by Bishop Williams, although the two men had never met each other before. "Tell me," asked Bishop Williams, after the first greetings, "how old you know me?" "Oh, by your face," replied his lordship of Edinburgh. "I have one of your photographs, you know. But tell me in return how you knew me." "Oh, by your legs," replied Dr. Williams, glancing with an amused smile at the well-turned calves of his guest.

Expeditious Raising of New Potatoes

[Kennebec Journal.]

Many of the alleged new potatoes that people are buying and eating nowadays are not new at all, and have not been since a year ago. Some fellow has discovered a way of making old potatoes look new by soaking them in a preparation that makes the rough outer skin peel off, and leaves only a smooth inner skin like that of a new potato.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 18.

MAINE TOWNS.

Fourth of July Celebration at the Buxton and Hollis Fair Grounds.

High School Graduation Exercises at Freeport and Corham.

Reorganization of Riverside Grange, East Raymond.

Buxton.

The Buxton and Hollis Agricultural Society will have a gramd celebration at their fine new grounds, July 4th. There will be a game of base ball between the Sacos and Presumpscots at 9.30 a. m. In the evening there will be a dance in the new hall now being erected upon the grounds. To add to the enjoyment there will be good music, and refreshments will be served upon the grounds. The trotting takes place in the afternoon. The races will be as follows: At 2 o'clock the 2.35 class, purse $100, and also 2.50 class, purse $100, each to be divided as follows: 50 per cent to first horse, 25 per cent to second, 15 per cent to third, 10 per cent to fourth. All entries must be accompanied by 5 per cent of purse, otherwise they will not be recorded. An additional 5 per cent will be demanded from winning horses only. Entries will positively close June 28th, at 11 a. m. The society has recently been admitted a member of the National Trotting Association, consequently races will be governed by its rules. There must be at least four to enter and three to start in each class, otherwise the race will be declared off.

Efforts will be made to have half rates from all points on the Portland & Rochester Railroad. Should the weather prove stormy, everything will be postponed indefinitely and all entrance money refunded.

West Buxton.

There have been several heavy thunder showers in this vicinity lately. In the last shower the house of Mr. Charles Tarbox was struck, doing considerable damage to the house, and affecting his wife so that she could not speak for an hour or more.

Rev. S. S. Cummings and four children, representatives of the "Little Wanderers' Home," Boston, gave a very interesting entertainment last evening, at the Free Will Baptist church.

The Good Templars lodge had a large attendance at their regular meeting last Thursday evening. Visitors from Hollis and Waterboro were present, and entertained the lodge by remarks, and Star lodge endeavored to interest their friends by readings, recitations, music and the reading of the lodge paper.

There is a prospect of a creamery being started here, and a meeting is called for this week to see what action the citizens and farmers of this vicinity will take to establish one. A canvass has been made of the number of cows there are within a radius of five miles, and it has a number exceeding 1200. If started, it is thought that it may be run on the co-operative plan. A Mr. Douglass of Boston, who is largely interested in the creamery business, is to be present at the meeting, and will give any necessary explanations as to the manner of constructing building and the method of manufacturing the butter. Mr. Waterhouse has offered a building site, and if the other citizens will do as much more in other ways, a first-class creamery will be built shortly. Mr. Charles Butler is the prime mover in this enterprise, and through his endeavors the matter has been presented to the people with a favorable outlook for its success. If established it will be built on a good-sized brook or directly on a Saco river. It is hoped that the citizens and farmers will interest themselves in this undertaking.

East Raymond.

Riverside Grange, No. 63, P. of H., which was organized in this town in 1875, and which has ceased to hold meetings for a long time for lack of attendance was reorganized last Thursday evening, June 13th, with 39 charter members, at the Town House, by M. P. Hunnewell of Scarboro, Grand Deputy, when the following officers were elected, viz.:

Worthy Master—D. W. Leavitt.
Observer—E. C. Hall.
Lecturer—Mrs. A. F. Winter.
Treasurer—Mrs. Nellie Browne.
Chaplain—Levi Jordan.
Steward—C. K. Thorpe.
Assistant Steward—L. N. Jordan.
Gate Keeper—E. B. Jordan.
Secretary—O. B. Lane.
Pomona—Mrs. Jennie Jordan.
Ceres—Mrs. Emily Hall.
Flora—Mrs. Abbie K. Nash.
Lady Assistant Steward—Mrs. L. N. Jordan.

The Sabbath school at the Centre elected the following officers last Sabbath for the ensuing year:

Superintendent—E. C. Hall.
Assistant Superintendent—L. N. Jordan.
Treasurer—Mrs. Emily Hall.
Librarian—Mrs. H. M. Leavitt.
Secretary—Mrs. Nellie Brown.

Grass is looking nicely and haying will commence immediately after the Fourth of July.

Farmers are very busy hoeing.

The Colorado beetle is reigning as usual.

Oxford.

Oxford Division, Sons of Temperance now has over 50 good working members. Monday evening last a delegation of twenty visited Harrison Division where they were cordially received and treated to a sumptuous repast.

Insects which seems to emenate from a small miller are making a clean sweep of young cabbage plants in many gardens.

The potatoe beetle is not so plenty as usual. In some towns they are scarcely seen at all while in others they are plenty as usual.

The mosquito and black fly which were uncommonly plenty during the fore part of the season have nearly disappeared since the terrific thunder storm a few days since.

Strawberries are very plenty and people are improving the opportunity.

Haying must commense with many in about ten days.

C. S. Hayes has done a large amount of work with his patent horse planter among his neighbors besides his own. He performes in one hour with two hands and a horse what formerly required four hands for the entire day, besides the hills are at uniform distances and covered at the same depth.

The saving by using our road machine is estimated at $500 per annum, besides giving us far better roads than ever previous.

Brownfield.

DEATH OF WM. P. EATON.

The grass in this vicinity is looking finely with prospect of a large hay crop. Farmers will be obliged to commence cutting the last of this month.

Other crops are doing well, so much cold weather makes corn rather backward.

Saturday nine of our young men met and organized a base ball club, there is some good material in this club and with a little practice will make it very interesting for some of the club in this vicinity.

Wm. P. Eaton died at his home in Boston of pneumonia June 8th. Mr. Eaton went from this town a few years ago and located in business on Lincoln street. By push and enterprise he built a large trade, but was cut down in the very strength of his manhood.

The funeral of Mr. Eaton took place June 11th at his late residence, 19 Pearl street, Boston. It was largely attended by the relatives and friends of the deceased. Service were rendered by Rev. Geo. O. Crawford. The floral tributes were profuse and handsome, the more prominent ones being a wreath from Eng. Co. No. 12; pillow from the firm of Cotton, Durgin & Maag; wreath from the Bay State Ice Company; wreath from the employes of the deceased; wreath and basket of roses from the wife of the deceased; a large bouquet from Mrs. Geo. H. Witheself. There were also several other handsome bouquets. The pall bearers were Messrs. Cotton, Durgin, Maag and Witherell. The interment was at Malden.

West Poland.

Drs. Hill, of Lewiston, and Cobb, of Mechanic Falls, removed an Ovarian tumor from Miss Eva Tenney one day last week which contained over twenty quarts of water We are happy to learn the operation was a success and the patient is in a fair way for recovery.

Uncle John Emery aged 87 years, who has been blind and nearly deprived of his speech for several years, is now violently insane. His extreme age precludes all hope of recovery.

Grass crops never promised better and hoed crops are looking finely.

Moses A. Herrick, who recently had a cancer removed from his lip by Mrs. Lambert, of N. Windham, has fully recovered, Mr. H. is past 89 years but still smart and vigorous as most men of 60.

Gorham.

The graduating exercises of the Gorham High School are to take place this noon, June 18th, at the Congregational church at 2.30 p. m. Reception to be held at Ridlon's hall in the evening. The music will be furnished by Grimmer's Orchestra. The committee on arrangements is Harry S. Emery, Albert M. Jones, Lillian S. Smith, Lizzie M. Harding, Fannie L. Higgins.

Otisfield.

Daniel C. Brett, breeder of fancy dairy stock, recently sold his fine high grade Holstein cow Lady Beamster, to Hon. H. J. Libby, of Portland, for $100. This cow gave 5½ pounds of milk per day from which 2 pounds of butter per week were made. His thoroughbred Holstein bull Lord Milo, 3 years old, mersures 7 feet 5 inches and weighs 2,036 pounds.

West Baldwin.

Grass is looking fairly well in this vicinity, and there will probably be an average hay crop. Corn, potatoes and other crops are looking well.

Rev. James Nixon starts today for Kennebunkport to attend the Portland District Ministerial Association.

News was received last week of the death of Miss Nellie M. Tarbox at Greensboro, N. C. She was the daughter of Rev. G. W. Barber, formerly of this place.

WIT AND WISDOM.

He had made the Grand Tour.

She—I hear that you went as far as Constantinople, Mr. Smythe. Then you must have seen the Dardanelles.

He—H'm! Don't remember the name. But I saw the Wilards at Trieste, and young Spoopendyke, who was traveling with them.—Harper's Bazar.

BEECHAM'S PILLS act like magic on a weak stomach.

"You love my daughter?" said the old man.

'Love her!" he exclaimed, passionately, "why, sir, I would die for her! For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish, a bleeding, bruised mass, upon the rocks, two hundred feet below!"

The old man shook his head. "I'm something of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Bessie—You refused Mr. De Temps? Why, any other girlwould jump at an offer from him.

Maud (just graduated)—Oh, I know he's handsome, but I want to call marry such an insane man! Why, I asked him a few questions about the differentiation in protoplasmic molecular bivalves, and he actually blushed, he said was, "I suppose so!"—Lawrence American.

The Hostetter Stomach Bitter People Score Another Point.

In the United States Circuit Court for the South ern District of New York, Judge Shipman handed down an opinion a few days ago in the suit of the owners of the trade marks covering Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against Arnold Theller and Cornell Theller, the compounders located on Vesey street, New York City, in which it was decided that, although the defendants made use of their own names on the labels affixed to the bottles containing bitters prepared by them, yet as they were evidently designed to imitate the Hostetter labels, they were infringers, and a perpetual injunction was granted and an accounting of damages ordered, together with the costs of the suit. It is the evident intention at the Hostetter people to protect their valuable trade mark against all infringers.

It Didn't Agree With Him:

Bigbee—Hello! what is the matter? You look all broken up.

Spacer—Indigestion.

Bigbee—Is that so? What have you been eating?

Spacer—The words I applied to Col. Bulbie in my report of the caucus the other day.—Puck.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

G. G. Treat, of West Granville, Mass., writes of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS:

For rheumatism, neuralgia, pain in the side or back, coughs, colds, bruises, and any local weakness, they truly possess wonderful curative qualities. I have recommended them to my neighbors with the happiest results, many of whom but for ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS would be in a crippled condition at home. In every instance where they have been faithfully and properly applied the result has been wonderfully satisfactory.

Scene—Schoolroom at public exhibition.

Elderly Lady—Johnnie, what is the present third singular of "to flee."

Johnnie—Flies.

Elderly Lady—That's right. Now give the perfect third singular.

Johnnie—Thousand fleas.

(Elderly lady is carried out in hysterics.)—Time.

When the summer's rose has faded
What shall make it fair again?
When the face with pain is shaded
What shall drive away the pain?
Never shall a blossom brighten
After blighted by the frost,
But the load of pain may lighten,
And we need not count as lost
all the pleasure of life when the wife and mother, upon whom the happiness of home so largely depends, is afflicted with the delicate diseases peculiar to women. It is terrible to contemplate the misery existing in our midst because of the prevalence of these diseases. It is high time that all women should know that there is one sure remedy or all female complaints, and that is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Do not allow ill-health to fasten itself upon you. Ward it off by the use of this standard remedy. But if it has already crept in, put it to rout. You can do it by the use of the "Favorite Prescription." It is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be returned.

For biliousness, sick headache, indigestion and constipation take Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

How it came in.

Mrs. De Style—Were you at church last Sunday? I didn't see you.

Mrs. De Fashion—I saw you.

Mrs. De Style—Did you? Do you like my new bonnet?

Mrs. De Fashion—Oh, it was perfectly lovely! It came from Paris, I'm sure.

Mrs. De Style—Yes, dear. Mrs. Devout smuggled it in for me.—N. Y. Weekly.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

A matter of daily bread.

"My friend," said the long-coated old man solemnly, "have you made preparations for the day of judgment?"

"Sir," replied the young man, "that's how I make my living."

"Young may!"

"I am employed in the sheriff's office.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest.

A little girl in Plainfield, N. J., was very thoughtful on the way home from morning service on a recent Sunday. The last hymn had been "Even Me, Even Me." Finally she asked her mother: "Mamma, did Adam write that hymn?"

"Why, no, child; why do you ask that?"

"Because it says 'Eve and Me.'"

How Mr. and Mrs. Morrill Escaped From the Flood.

Mrs. Mary N. Morrill of North Berwick, a friend minister, is staying with Mr. Howard Taylor. At the time of the Johnstown flood, she was about 70 miles away, in Bedford county. Having a son, Mr. Thomas T. Morrill, in Johnstown, she took a team and drove across the mountains to hunt him up. She was fortunate in finding him and tells a remarkable story of his escape with his wife. He was at home when the flood struck the house. Securing a rope they went to the roof of the house. He tied the rope around his wife's waist. When the house was swept away he took to the water with his wife under one arm. He swam for a long distance among timber and broken trees, both being considerably bruised and torn. After being in the water for some time they succeeded in climbing upon a floating roof, but this soon gave way and once more he was obliged to swim for his life. He succeeded again in getting himself and wife on some floating timber and they were finally rescued by reaching the Morrill Institute. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrill are expected here today and will be the guests of Mr. Howard Taylor.

Funeral of William S. Lowell.

The funeral of the late W. S. Lowell took place from the residence of Mr. A. M. Smith on Brackett street yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of the friends of the deceased. The floral offerings were exceedingly beautiful. They included a lyre from the Little Diamond Island cottagers, a wreath from Loring, Short & Harmon, another from Albert Dirwanger, the florist, a basket from the XI Club, another from the Society of Art, and a bouquet from Mrs. George Thompson.

Rev. Mr. Dunham officiated, and his remarks were true and sympathetic upon the character of the deceased. The pall-bearers were Harry H. Shurtleff, A. G. Fuller, W. H. Thaxter and J. Calvin Stevens. The remains were interred at Evergreen. During the funeral the flag of the Mechanics' Association was at half-mast.
